CALL for PAPERS "Library Vision 2047"

India aims to debut herself as a developed nation by its centennial anniversary of independence in 2047

encompassing overall growth through sustainable societal advancement with knowledge economy and effective governance. Transformative education with a modern approach has been brought intending to move towards a better knowledge society reforming the future teaching-learning endeavour by implementing NEP2020. It needs transformation of libraries and information systems onto a balanced modern resource management sector enabling marginal poor, youths, women empower. LIS professionals face both tremendous opportunities and challenges to address such transformation. On the one hand, it facilitates global collaboration, improves accessibility, incorporates cutting-edge technologies, and enables customising user experiences. On the other side, issues like digital divide, infrastructure constraints, information overload, data security, and the requirement of specialised skills are major hindrances. LIS professionals must prioritise user education and digital literacy, work with international networks, invest in strong digital infrastructures, and concentrate on ongoing professional development training programs. Libraries must also address issues with intellectual property, digital preservation, and legal compliance. Overcoming these obstacles, libraries would be able to fulfil their role as emerged knowledge centres and contribute in making India a truly developed nation by 2047. Libraries can make a substantial contribution to the goal of bringing out our country a knowledge-driven, digitally inclusive nation. Keeping the above in considerations, IASLIC has selected 'Library Vision 2047' as the main theme of its 34th All India Conference 2025 expecting the LIS professionals to delve upon ongoing important issues of opportunities and challenges that would result with fruitful outcomes and guidelines out of the deliberations and discussions. 3 days Leadership Development Program (LDP) organized by Goa Institute of Management, Goa, and LIS Academy, Bangalore, during 4 to 6 June, 2025
- A brief report -

The Leadership Development Program (LDP) 2025, held from 4 to 6 June at the Goa Institute of Management (GIM), marked a milestone in advancing librarianship in India by redefining the librarian's role from a passive custodian of books to an active strategic knowledge leader. The program is jointly organized by GIM, established in 1993, a premier autonomous business school approved by AICTE, dedicated to transforming and advancing management education in India and the LIS Academy (Library & Information Science Academy), Bangalore, a professional charitable established to work for the development of the Profession and to assist Libraries with the state-of-the-art technology. The three-day residential program brought together senior library professionals from across the country, offering a unique blend of management sciences and library science to address the challenges posed by rapid digital transformation and evolving academic ecosystems. The program commenced with inaugural remarks by Dr. Takappa R and Prof. P. V. Konnur, who emphasized the need for strategic collaboration among librarians, administrators, and technology experts. The keynote speaker, Mr. Bhushan Savaikar, Director of Higher Education, Goa inspired participants by highlighting the importance of maintaining a balance between embracing digital access and preserving the irreplaceable value of human interaction in library services. The opening sessions set the tone for the program by underscoring libraries' potential as critical hubs for academic engagement and innovation. Core technical sessions delved into key themes such as strategic leadership, emotional intelligence, human resource development, technology integration, knowledge management, and library space innovation. Renowned faculty members, including Prof. Rahul Sukumaran on strategy, Prof. Rathish Bhatt on managing change, Prof. Karman Khanna on communication, and Prof. V. Padmanabhan on conflict resolution, enriched the learning experience with their insights. These sessions helped participants explore practical approaches to lead libraries with vision, empathy, and readiness for continuous change. Interactive elements such as role plays, design challenges, group presentations, and gamified exercises fostered collaborative learning and creative problem-solving. Participants worked in teams to address contemporary topics like sustainable technology adoption, knowledge-centric library development, and user-centered service innovation, encouraging experimentation and hands-on application of concepts. Highlights of the program included sharing innovative practices from leading institutions, such as AI-powered chatbots for user assistance at IIM Kozhikode, user experience scorecards developed at Ashoka University, emotionally intelligent HR design strategies pioneered at GIM, technology-integrated library infrastructure at NAL and Parul, and unique team-building rituals adapted from corporate environments like TCS. These examples demonstrated how libraries can effectively integrate technology and human-centered design to enhance services and user engagement.

The valedictory function featured closing reflections by Dr. Sandesh Dessai, Mr. Jelani, Dr. Takappa R, and Prof. Konnur, who lauded participants' enthusiasm and commitment to transformative librarianship. Certificates were distributed, and speakers reinforced the urgency of positioning librarians as strategic enablers of institutional knowledge equity, innovation, and academic excellence. Key takeaways from LDP 2025 highlighted the need for visionary leadership, empathetic HR practices, continuous adaptability, strategic technology integration, and inspiring library spaces designed around user needs. The program recommended expanding future LDPs by incorporating global perspectives, establishing structured post-event mentorship opportunities, creating a digital repository of resources, publishing a detailed proceedings report, and forming an active alumni network to sustain professional growth and collaboration.

Overall, LDP 2025 empowered participants to reimagine their roles and libraries as agile, inclusive, and future-ready centers of learning, positioning them to better support India's academic and research communities in a rapidly changing world. By fostering leadership capabilities, encouraging innovation, and building a community of forward-thinking library professionals, the program set a new benchmark for professional development in Indian librarianship.

EK PAD MA KA NAAM (KNOWLEDGE SESSION) Drawing Competition on "Save Trees, Save Environment"

GIET School of Pharmacy in collaboration with My Bharat (Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, East Godavari District), organized the "Ek Ped Maa Ka Naam" (A Tree in Mother's Name) program at GIET School of Pharmacy on 18th July 2025. The event was aimed to promote environmental awareness and emotional connection through a unique initiative encouraging students to plant saplings in honor of their mothers. Addressing the gathering, Vice Principal, GIET School of Pharmacy Dr. S. Ramachandran highlighted the significance of planting and nurturing trees, stressing the vital role they play in environmental conservation. He urged students to take personal responsibility for sustaining the saplings they planted and to carry forward the spirit of green consciousness. As part of the event, a drawing competition entitled "Save Trees, Save Environment" was conducted at the library, with nearly 40 students showcasing their creativity and environmental concern through art. Dr. C. Gopi, Professor, GIET School of Pharmacy judged the competition, and the winners were announced as follows:

K. Vaishnavi secured the First Prize, T. Lavanya won the Second Prize, and T. Veda Vagdevi received the Third Prize. Vice Principal Dr. S. Ramachandran presented the awards to the winners. The program also included a sapling drive in the college's medicinal garden, with active participation from faculties and students, who also took a pledge to commit themselves to environmental protection, faculty member Dr. K. Manohar, and My Bharat representatives G. Sattibabu and Sindhu were also present, lending their support to the initiative and reinforcing the message of sustainability and community involvement. In this event the programme organizer Mr Shaik Meera was felicitated by the My Bharat East Godavari team and Vice principal Dr S Ramachandran with a shawl and Memento.
